The Scandal of the Cross

Myerstown Church of the Brethren

Scriptural Message

Scripture: 1 Corinthians 1:18-25 (NIV)

For the message of the cross is foolishness to those who are perishing, but to us who are being saved it is the power of God. For it is written:

"I will destroy the wisdom of the wise; the intelligence of the intelligent I will frustrate."

Where is the wise person? Where is the teacher of the law? Where is the philosopher of this age? Has not God made foolish the wisdom of the world? For since in the wisdom of God the world through its wisdom did not know him, God was pleased through the foolishness of what was preached to save those who believe. Jews demand signs and Greeks look for wisdom, but we preach Christ crucified: a stumbling block to Jews and foolishness to Gentiles, but to those whom God has called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ the power of God and the wisdom of God. For the foolishness of God is wiser than human wisdom, and the weakness of God is stronger than human strength.

Wednesday, March 2 is Ash Wednesday and the beginning of the church season of Lent. Lent is a time when many Christians prepare for Easter by observing spiritual disciplines such as fasting, repentance, moderation.

It's a time set aside for reflection on Jesus' suffering, his sacrifice, death, burial, and resurrection.

The Bible does not mention the custom of Lent, however, the practice of repentance and mourning in ashes is found in 2 Samuel 13:19; Esther 4:1; Job 2:8; Daniel 9:3; and Jesus mentions mourning with ashes in Matthew 11:21. Lent grew from church tradition and the practice of a period of penitence prior to the celebration of the Resurrection was in place by the 4th century.

Our Anabaptist forefathers didn't observe Lent for several reasons: it was not a Biblical command of Christ and our salvation is a gift of God through faith, not gained through acts of deprivation or other things we might do to earn it.

However, the practice of personal examination and preparation is part of our heritage. The Brethren have always observed a time of personal examination and preparation prior to meeting for the Love Feast through things like the Deacon visits of years past. Today we gather for worship and a time of examination and preparation before we meet around the tables at Love Feast.

I do think there is value in taking some time prior to our celebration of Christ's resurrection to remind ourselves of what God has done for us in Christ, to journey to the cross with Jesus, to focus for a time on the message of the cross and of Jesus' suffering and death, and to examine ourselves as regards to our walk with Christ both personally and as a body.

The focus during the Lenten season is often on the cross. Here at Myerstown CoB we drape purple cloth over the cross in front of the sanctuary. But in this increasingly secular culture the true meaning of the cross is often forgotten.

James Emery White tells the story of a priest from South Carolina who had a couple from his parish bring to him a list of their teenage son's questions. One of them was, "What is that guy doing hanging up there on the plus sign?"

A customer inquired at the jewelry counter in a department store. "Do you sell gold crosses?" As the clerk pulled out the trays of crosses she asked, "What kind would you like, a plain one or one that has the little man on it?"

Both stories remind us that in an increasingly secular world, the cross has lost its meaning. Perhaps what is most frightening in that first story is that the parents couldn't explain to their son what that guy was doing "hanging up there on the plus sign."

But what about us? Do we really comprehend the meaning and the significance of Christ's cross?

In 1 Corinthians 1:18-25 Paul writes that the message of the cross is a stumbling block and offensive to Jews; foolishness and nonsense to Greeks (Gentiles), but also the power and the wisdom of God to others. To proclaim that someone crucified on a Roman cross could be the Savior of the world or the Messiah is sheer madness, from a human viewpoint. Yet that is what the first Christians adamantly believed, and Paul unashamedly proclaimed – that the Savior of the world was the very same Jesus executed on the Roman cross and then raised to life.

Let's face it, God is a scandalous God. God sometimes offends our religious opinions. God doesn't conduct himself the way we think God should act, like when he used a Roman cross as a means to reveal himself and save the world.

Through Christ's cross God has destroyed the ways and the means by which humanity has sought God. Amazingly, God has called us into relationship with him through Christ's cross, that "emblem of suffering and shame."

That foolish, nonsensical cross has become the means of God's revelation, power, and salvation.

We do not get to God or find the way to knowing God through our own efforts. God has established the terms of the encounter through faith in the message of the cross. In the cross God has most clearly revealed God's own self, own power and own wisdom which is far beyond any human understanding.

The cross of Christ was and always will be scandalous; there will always be those who see it as pure foolishness and nonsense.

I like what Max Lucado says about the pivotal nature of the cross in history and in each of our lives.

Christ's cross "rests on the time-line of history like a compelling diamond. Its tragedy summons all sufferers. Its absurdity attracts all cynics. Its hope lures all searchers. History has idolized and despised it, gold-plated and burned it, worn and trashed it. History has done everything but ignore it. How could you ignore such a piece of lumber? Suspended on its beams is the greatest claim in history. A crucified carpenter claiming to be God on earth. Divine. Eternal. The death-slayer. Never has timber been regarded so sacred. No wonder the apostle Paul called the cross event the core of the gospel. Its bottom line sobering: if the account is true, it is history's hinge. Period. If not, the cross is history's hoax.

Which is the cross for you, hinge or hoax? Or in the words of Jesus, "Who do you say that I am?" (Max Lucado, The Cross, Multnomah, 1998, p. 5)

Christ's cross – foolish nonsense or the power and the wisdom of God? We all must choose. There is no ignoring it.

Pastor's Report

January 18, 2022 – February 15, 2022

During this past month as I looked out my office window to the pond across the street, I saw people ice skating and when I had some evening meetings, I noticed lights were placed so people could skate in the evening. That brought back some memories of outdoor skating on several ponds close to my parent's house when I was growing up. It also reminded me how cold it was this past January!

But when the weather is cold like it has been, life often slows a bit. I don't know if it is because of cold weather, but the life of the church seemed to have slowed a bit this past month. That is good, because we all need to enjoy some restful times on occasion.

Yet, there were some important things happening in the life of the church, like the approval of the search committee and the beginning of their work, there were meetings still being held, Bible study still meeting, quilters gathering on Wednesdays, the Sharing Cupboard still serving our community and some new technology was being tried in the sanctuary. Church life continued, but for some reason it seemed a little more relaxed this past month. Maybe it was the cold weather, or maybe it was the lack of any major crises in the life of the church, or maybe it was just me!

I will not be with you for the February meeting as I will be in Florida with the Ministers of Music quartet where we have several concerts planned. Craig Luckenbill will fill the pulpit on February 20. Thanks again for the time off!

As we move into March, the season of Lent begins on March 2, Ash Wednesday. I have a feeling things will pick up in the next month or so! The Deacons will make a decision about Love Feast at their February meeting, Palm Sunday and Easter are later this year on April 10 and 17.

Keep the work of the Search Committee in your prayers as they do their work on behalf of the congregation. Pray for the committee, but also pray that God is working in the heart of the one to be called as Myerstown CoB's new pastor. I continue to be blessed in my time as your Interim Pastor.

God bless,
Dennis
