April 2022

Ministry through Faith, Vision, and Action

Myerstown Church of the Brethren

Scriptural Message

28 After the Sabbath, at dawn on the first day of the week, Mary Magdalene and the other Mary went to look at the tomb.

2 There was a violent earthquake, for an angel of the Lord came down from heaven and, going to the tomb, rolled back the stone and sat on it. 3 His appearance was like lightning, and his clothes were white as snow. 4 The guards were so afraid of him that they shook and became like dead men.

5 The angel said to the women, "Do not be afraid, for I know that you are looking for Jesus, who was crucified. 6 He is not here; he has risen, just as he said. Come and see the place where he lay. 7 Then go quickly and tell his disciples: 'He has risen from the dead and is going ahead of you into Galilee. There you will see him.' Now I have told you."

8 So the women hurried away from the tomb, afraid yet filled with joy, and ran to tell his disciples. 9 Suddenly Jesus met them. "Greetings," he said. They came to him, clasped his feet and worshiped him. 10 Then Jesus said to them, "Do not be afraid. Go and tell my brothers to go to Galilee; there they will see me."

Matthew 28:1-10 (NIV)

3 Since, then, you have been raised with Christ, set your hearts on things above, where Christ is, seated at the right hand of God. 2 Set your minds on things above, not on earthly things. 3 For you died, and your life is now hidden with Christ in God.

An Ending or A Beginning?

In Matthew's account of Jesus' resurrection, the two Mary's went to "look at the tomb." They were looking for some sort of closure to this chapter of their lives. Mark and Luke tell us the women came with spices to anoint Jesus' body. They came expecting to find his body and perform some final rites. What they found was totally unexpected.

Matthew's account of the women's experience is the most dramatic of the four gospels. Mark, Luke and John all have the tomb already open and the stone rolled away when the Mary's arrive. Matthew's account makes for good Hollywood special effects.

After what was probably a difficult Sabbath, on the dawn of the first day of the week the two Mary's head to Jesus' tomb. Suddenly (Matthew uses a lot of superlatives), "suddenly," he says, there is an earthquake and an angel, whose appearance was like lightning and whose clothes were as white as snow, comes down from heaven, rolls away the stone, and then sits on it.

There is one thing that doesn't happen in any of the gospel accounts, one thing you might expect to happen, but we never see it: we never see Jesus walk out of the grave! That's one thing all the gospels have in common: the tomb is already empty and Jesus is already gone. The resurrection happens in ways the world can't see. Jesus is already gone. He's already risen.

The two women came expecting an ending, but what they found was a new beginning!

As the two Mary's take in all this drama, they must be wondering, Where is Jesus? So, the angel says to them, "Don't be afraid! I know you are looking for Jesus, who was crucified. He isn't here! He is risen from the dead, just as he said would happen." The women wonder: where is Jesus? The angel answers, "He isn't here." And why isn't he here? "He is risen from the dead, just as he said would happen."

The angel provides the answer to our biggest question about death. Following death, the death of loved ones, our own death, they – we – are not trapped in graves forever. Because Christ has been raised, we also will be raised just as he was raised.

That's what Paul is telling us in the Colossians 3 passage: "When Christ...shows up again on this earth, you'll show up, too – the real you, the glorious you." (Colossians 3:4 The Message paraphrase) Jesus' resurrection tells us that death and grief and loss are not the end. There is something more.

To show what he was telling the women was not just some wishful thinking or some fabrication, the angel invites them to "come, see the place where he lay." They had seen the stone rolled away. They had heard the angel say Jesus was raised. Now they see – there is no body in the grave. The tomb is empty. The angel only rolled the stone away so the women could see what had already happened. "He is not here. He has risen as he said."

4 When Christ, who is your[a] life, appears, then you also will appear with him in glory.

The empty tomb is God's resurrection solution to our questions about death and also about life.

But knowing that the tomb is empty is not a complete answer to the Where is Jesus question. Emptiness can only tell us so much. And maybe "empty" is not the best word to describe the tomb. Empty implies something is missing; it is to say that the only thing we know about the tomb is that the body of Jesus is not there. Maybe a better way is to say the tomb has been "opened."

If it's an open space, that suggests there is more to discover. The open tomb invites us to "come and see." An open tomb presents us with new possibilities and opens us to this new thing God is doing. And maybe the more important question is, Where is Jesus now? In other words, Jesus' resurrection not only answers the death question, but answers the life question as well.

To answer that question, the angel says to the women, "...go quickly and tell his disciples that he has risen from the dead and he is going ahead of you to Galilee. You will see him there." The angel sends the women on a mission, into the future that God has in store for them.

Jesus goes ahead of us. Jesus is not just some figure in the historic past, locked into some ancient time. Jesus is not shut up in our own personal pasts along with our sins, our wasted opportunities, our youthful idealism.

Jesus is ahead of us, in our now and in our future, in life, in death and in life.

"He is going ahead of you..." The focus is always forward. Jesus is going ahead of us. He's waiting for us up ahead, waiting for us to get moving, to follow in his footsteps, to catch up to him and do his work in the world.

Easter is the miracle of seeing an open tomb and the new possibilities that it presents for our lives. The good news of the resurrection is that we can be the people God has made us to be because Jesus has already gone ahead of us. Jesus is preparing the way. He will be there wherever "there" is when you get "there." In whatever situation you may find yourself, good or bad, Jesus is "there."

An ending or a beginning? In God's resurrection solution, the focus is always forward into the future that God has in store for us. "I know you are looking for Jesus who was crucified. He isn't here! He is risen from the dead, just as he said..." "Come and see...go...and tell...he is going ahead of you...you will see him there."

The grave is open; death is defeated; life has won the victory. Thanks be to God!

Have a blessed and happy Easter!

Dennis

Pastor's Report

February 15, 2022 – March 15, 2022

Obviously, we are into March! The temperature roller coaster is in full swing. This past Friday I enjoyed a long walk on the Lancaster County Northwest River Trail. It was a beautiful day! Saturday, we endured what I hope was this winter's last gasp as the snow and the temperatures were falling and the wind was howling. Yes, it's March in Central Pennsylvania!

Yet, there are signs of winter losing its grasp. We have crocuses blooming in our yard. I've seen daffodils in bloom in some sunny locations and there was a flock of about fifty robins in our front yard on Sunday morning.

During the last month here at Myerstown Church of the Brethren we have experienced a season of extremes as well. We have experienced a season of progress as the Search Committee is moving forward in its important task and support for the church and its ministries is good.

But we have also gone through a difficult season with the passing of some of our long-time members including Dennis Brubaker, Elaine Landis, and Ralph Ackerman. It is in these difficult seasons that we learn to appreciate one another as brothers and sisters in Christ. Thank you for the support and compassion you have shown these families.

In the next few weeks, we will experience an important season in the life of the church as we will celebrate Love Feast once again on Palm Sunday and celebrate Christ's resurrection with the Sunrise Service, Easter breakfast and worship on Easter Sunday.

It continues to be a privilege to serve as your Interim Pastor.

God bless,

Dennis
