Scriptural Message

We love because he first loved us
1 John 4:19

For God so loved the world, that he gave his only Son, that whoever believes in him should not perish
but have eternal life

John 3:16

Love is patient, love is kind. It does not envy, it does not boast, it is not proud. It does not dishonor others, it is not self-seeking, it is not easily angered, it keeps no record of wrongs. Love does not delight in evil but rejoices with the truth.
It always protects, always trusts,
always hopes, always perseveres.
Love never fails. But where there are prophecies, they will cease; where there are tongues, they will be stilled; where there is knowledge,
it will pass away.

February 2026

Ministry through Faith, Vision, and Action

Greetings from Pastor Chris

Verse of the Month: Romans 8:28 (NIV)

"And we know that in all things God works for the good of those who love him, who have been called according to his purpose."

February can feel like a long month. Christmas is well behind us, spring still feels far away, and the cold can wear us down a bit. This time of year, it's easy to feel tired—physically, emotionally, and even spiritually.

That's why Romans 8:28 is such a good reminder for us right now.

Paul doesn't tell us that everything we face is good. We know that's not true. What he does tell us is that God is at work in all things—even the hard, confusing, and discouraging parts of life. God is never idle, even when it feels like nothing is happening.

As we've been walking through the Gospel of Matthew, we've seen this truth lived out in real time. God was working through long genealogies, quiet years, unexpected people, and ordinary moments to bring about His greatest purpose—Jesus. From the outside, much of it looked slow or even insignificant, but God was faithfully moving His plan forward. "This took place to fulfill what the Lord had said..." (Matthew 1:22).

That's often how God works in our lives too.

Jesus reminds us in Matthew 11:28, "Come to me, all you who are weary and burdened, and I will give you rest." God doesn't ask us to have it all together—He invites us to come as we are. And when we feel worn down, Scripture reassures us that "The Lord is close to the brokenhearted" (Psalms 34:18).

Winter is a good picture of this. The ground looks lifeless, but beneath the surface, God is still preparing growth. "There is a time for everything" (Ecclesiastes 3:1), and sometimes God's work happens quietly, before it becomes visible. As Paul reminds us elsewhere, "Let us not become weary in doing good, for at the proper time we will reap a harvest" (Galatians 6:9).

And through it all, we're not alone. Jesus promises in Matthew 28:20, "Surely I am with you always." Even in the long winter seasons, God is present, faithful, and working for our good.

As we move through February, let's keep trusting God's hand, even when the days feel long. Let's keep showing up, loving one another, and following Christ together—believing that God is working for good in ways we may not yet see.

Pastor's Report

Since our last meeting, ministry has been a steady mix of preaching, planning, and caring for people.

I spent time connecting with other local clergy by attending a Pastors' Breakfast, which was encouraging and helpful. Over the past month, I helped plan and lead our Christmas Eve service and preached through the Advent season. Earlier this month, I also began a new sermon series in the Gospel of Matthew, focusing on walking through Scripture together and helping the congregation better understand Jesus' life and teaching.

I participated in our church Memorial Service and also met with a family and officiated a funeral, providing pastoral care and helping them plan the service during a difficult time.

I met with the music team to plan worship music for the coming months and led pew communion for the congregation. Each week, I've continued to pray over and plan worship services, working through Scripture, music, and message themes.

I met for my regular monthly check-in with a pastor/mentor, prepared newsletter articles for the congregation, and spent time visiting with people at the Sharing Cupboard, offering conversation, support, and prayer.

I'm thankful for the chance to serve and appreciate the continued support and prayers of the board as we move forward together.

Mission and Ministry Board approves budget for 2026

The Mission and Ministry Board held a special meeting by Zoom on Nov. 24 to approve the 2026 budget for the denominational ministries. The board approved a total budget for all denominational ministries of $7,913,780 income and $7,954,240 expense, with an anticipated net expense of $40,460. For the Core Ministries, the board approved a budget of $5,453,000 income and $5,453,260 expense.

The decision represented a reduction of $102,000 in anticipated net expenses in Core Ministries since October, when the board had approved a parameter of $5,555,000. Treasurer Ed Woolf explained that staff worked to make additional reductions to lower anticipated expenses. He noted that in 2026, 56 percent of income will come from internal sources such as quasi-endowments, savings, and investments, as a trend of decreasing giving from congregations is expected to continue.

Church aids partners in hurricane's path

Hurricane Melissa caused extensive damage in Haiti, Jamaica, and Cuba in October. Brethren Disaster Ministries worked with local partners and Global Church of the Brethren Communion members to coordinate an initial response.

In Haiti, church leaders assessed the storm's impact. Unify Christian Church of the Brethren in Miami, Fla., collected donations of food and hygiene items.

In Jamaica, Brethren Disaster Ministries paid the cost to ship donations collected through Church of the Brethren pastor Dennis Webb and the Caribbean-American Family Network.

In Cuba, a $5,000 Emergency Disaster Fund grant provided initial relief to a group of pastors and congregations connected to the Church of the Brethren in Venezuela.

Longer-term response plans will focus on needs in Haiti.

Surveys reveal hopes for children's faith

Surveys carried out by Brethren Press and MennoMedia through Shine Everywhere and a grant from Lilly Endowment Inc. gathered information from congregations in Shine's publishing partner denominations—the Church of the Brethren, Mennonite Church USA, and Mennonite Church Canada—as well as Shine customers from other denominations. Shine received 264 responses from congregations and 254 from families, with an additional 62 responses to more in-depth “Families Growing Faith” mini surveys.

Results revealed that these families “place a high-priority on regular church attendance and are looking for ways to increase faith-related engagement with their children outside of church.” Nearly 85 percent of parents reported being “very confident” or “confident” in providing faith-forming experiences to their children at home. Parents want resources that are easily accessible and simple to use while representing diverse cultures and experiences. Challenges included a struggle with conflicting priorities and feeling overwhelmed by the pressure of nurturing faith development at home, despite recognizing its importance.

Primary concerns from congregations included a decline in engagement among youth and children, the struggle to maintain enough volunteers, and inconsistent attendance. More than 40 percent of churches report their attendance has declined over the last 5 years, with most having an average worship attendance of 100 or fewer.

One of the highest priorities for congregational leaders and families is a deep sense of belonging. There is a drive to promote intergenerational relationships through worship practices, extend a sense of community beyond worship, and provide an environment in which children find mentors and friends who share similar faith values.

Shine is creating resources in response. A cohort of 18 congregations for 2025-2026 is receiving at-home faith formation resources to distribute to families. In turn, they will provide feedback for the next round of resources. Find out more at <https://shineeverywhere.com>.

New initiative will focus on rural areas, small towns

Through the Part-time Pastor; Full-time Church connections in the Ministry Office, a partnership with Ashland Seminary has resulted in a grant of almost $1 million as a “pass-through partner” within the Rural and Small Town Initiative funded by Lilly Endowment Inc.

The Church of the Brethren’s Rural and Small Town Initiative program will be housed in Discipleship and Leadership Formation, with oversight by executive director Nate Polzin and staffing by Richard Wehrle. This new grant is geared to both pastors and congregations.

Part-time Pastor; Full-time Church continues in the Ministry Office with oversight by director Nancy Sollenberger Heishman and staffing by Ryan Braught. It is entering a sustainability phase, having received a Lilly sustainability grant.

District executive joins delegation to Palestine

Andy Hamilton, district executive minister of Southeastern District, traveled to Palestine Nov. 9-17, with a delegation from Churches for Middle East Peace.

“The delegation was briefed concerning the ongoing genocide and ethnic cleansing in Gaza and visited with Palestinian communities in the West Bank that have experienced ongoing threats of violence from Israeli settlers,” he reported.

The delegation met with officials from the World Council of Churches accompaniment program and participated in a gathering at Bethlehem Bible College where Palestinian Christian leaders presented the 2025 Kairos 2 document “A Moment of Truth: Faith in a Time of Genocide.”

Personnel

Ryan Braught began Nov. 17 as an independent contractor to manage Part-time Pastor; Full-time Church for the Ministry Office. He has been a “circuit rider” for the program since 2003. He is a multi-vocational minister and pastor of Veritas Church of the Brethren in Lancaster, Pa.

Aly Heckeroth began Oct. 13 as FaithX assistant coordinator, serving at the General Offices in Elgin, Ill. She is in her second year of Brethren Volunteer Service, having served for a year at Highland Park Elementary in Roanoke, Va. She is a member of Messiah Church of the Brethren in Kansas City, Mo.

Bethany Kasten began Nov. 3 as part-time office assistant for Discipleship and Leadership Formation at the General Offices in Elgin, Ill. She previously was a senior paralegal at Bott and Associates, Ltd. in Rolling Meadows, Ill.

Greg Davidson Laszakovits began Jan. 1 as interim district executive minister for Northern Plains District. He lives in Elizabethtown, Pa., and will serve half-time in a hybrid working style and will travel as needed. He has pastored Elizabethtown (Pa.) Church of the Brethren for 15 years and also has been an interim pastor. He served the denomination as director of the former Washington Office (now the Office of Peacebuilding and Policy) and as mission coordinator of Igreja da Irmandade-Brasil (the Church of the Brethren in Brazil). He owns and operates GDL Insight, which offers coaching, training, and consulting services.

Don Mitchell has begun in the newly created role of director of Intercultural Ministries for Atlantic Northeast District. He had been director of Church Development for the district since August 2006.

Sarah R. Radcliff began Nov. 17 as manager of Brethren Press operations, with responsibility for the functions of customer service and shipping at the General Offices in Elgin, Ill. She has more than 13 years of experience in managing projects and processes, with previous experience at JPMorgan Chase and Thermo Fisher Scientific. She has studied at the University of Notre Dame and at Judson University. She and her family attend Highland Avenue Church of the Brethren in Elgin, where she has been church office administrator.

Michael Scalzi retired Dec. 31 after three years as program assistant for Children’s Disaster Services. He worked with CDS since Nov. 9, 2022. His contributions included work connecting with volunteers and maintaining volunteer and program information. He is a member of Westminster (Md.) Church of the Brethren.

Richard Wehrle on Nov. 17 began as program manager for the new Rural and Small Towns Initiative in Discipleship and Leadership Formation, after having been program manager for Part-time Pastor; Full-time Church.
